

RUSSIA TRYING TO TAKE OVER ITALY

PRICES DROP
FOR SEVERAL
BASIC FOODSCOST OF LIVING TO BECOME POLITICAL ISSUE IN 1948

Chicago, Sept. 12. (P)—Prices of several basic foods took a tumble in primary markets today, arresting an advance which had carried quotations to new record highs for seven consecutive days.

Butter, hogs, wheat, corn, oats and lard were among the food items which declined.

Measuring the price drop in wholesale commodities, the Associated Press average of 35 items fell to 194.35 from 194.99 yesterday. It was the first decline in eight days. The base year 1926 equals 100.

The high prices, meanwhile, brought these reactions:

In Santa Cruz, Calif., Senator Taft (R-Ohio) told newsmen the high cost of living may be a prime political issue in 1948. He said he opposed a return to government price controls, and suggested that people eat less food, particularly meat. He said increased domestic consumption was keeping prices high.

In New York, Mayor William O'Dwyer announced that "in view of the terrific emergency" he had appointed a committee to investigate rising prices as they pertained to the school lunch program, care of city hospital patients and relief recipients.

A spokesman for the New York League of Women Shoppers, saying the organization could no longer recommend use of substitute foods, said "we feel we must fight now for a return to price controls and rationing."

Butter dropped 7 1/2 cents a pound in the Chicago wholesale market, best grades bringing 83 to 85 cents. In New York butter was quoted a cent lower, but no dealings were reported because of "consumer resistance."

Butter for future delivery dropped 3 cents a pound, the daily limit, on the Chicago mercantile exchange. Closing price on November butter was 73 cents. Eggs dropped the 2 cent daily limit, October eggs ending at 56 cents.

At the close there were 322 cars of eggs and 14 cars of butter offered for future delivery with no buyers. A car of butter contains 19,200 pounds and a car of eggs 16,000 dozen.

Grains, both cash and for future delivery, continued the decline begun late yesterday. At Minneapolis cash wheat dropped 8 1/2 cents a bushel and flour prices were reduced 20 to 30 cents a hundred pounds. Wheat was 7 1/2 lower to 2 1/2 higher at Kansas City.

Cash corn dropped 4 to 6 cents a bushel at Chicago while at Omaha, where a record price was set yesterday, prices slumped 4 to 5 cents. More cash corn was offered by the country than in recent days. Commercial buyers at Chicago obtained 200,000 bushels.

STRANGLED BY WRINGER
Baltimore, Sept. 12. (P)—Mrs. Nellie Ziegler, 74, was strangled today when her neck was caught in a washing machine wringer.

Patrolmen William Rhoades and Louis Smith reported she was doing the wash alone in her backyard when her dress became entangled in the wringer shaft and was drawn tight around her neck.

Wisconsin Senator
Says Housing Costs
Can Be Cut Down

BY EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

Washington, Sept. 12. (P)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today the congressional investigation into the nationwide housing shortage already has disclosed that "more than 700,000 home buyers and builders are priced out of the market."

"We are going to find some way to bring down prices for them," McCarthy, vice chairman of the Senate-House committee probing housing, told a reporter.

The Senator said he is confident that some substantial savings can be made in present housing costs.

"We are about 50 years behind present day methods in building some homes," the senator said. "We are using many methods of a handcraft era in a machine age."

The housing shortage led to increased talk of extending rent controls beyond next February 29. Along with McCarthy, Senators Flanders (R-Vt.), Sparkman (D-Ala.) and Myers (D-Pa.) agreed that Congress is likely to extend them.

McCarthy said public hearings of the 14 member Senate-House investigating group will dig into these housing problems:

1. A lack of conformity and up-to-dateness in building codes of various cities, towns, states and regions.

2. Lack of standardization in materials used in most modern, ready-made housing, such as various size bricks, plaster board and other building materials.

3. A shortage of new and younger workers in the skilled building trades, such as carpenters, brick masons and plumbers.

He said that training of skilled workers for construction probably is a problem for the unions and efforts might be made to get them "to open up" union membership to more and younger men.

McCarthy said the housing investigators will complete shortly details for a schedule of public hearings in a number of major cities and areas. Indications are the first will be in or near Chicago.

WOMAN BEATEN
UP AND BURNEDAlmost Nude Body Found
In Bottle-Strewn
Apartment

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 12. (P)—Police and relatives today found Miss Una V. Ponder, attractive 36-year-old brunette, fatally beaten and burned in her bottle-strewn apartment after forcing her way inside through a window.

The almost nude body was sprawled on the floor and had been beaten severely. Police said her body was nearly covered by burns which apparently had been caused from lighted cigarettes.

Police Chief Carl Heustis said several men, whose names were found in a book in the four-room apartment, would be questioned if they can be located.

There was no evidence of a struggle and police said the apartment bore evidence of not having been cleaned for several days. Three beds were in disorder.

Miss Ponder, who formerly worked at a Louisville news stand, never regained consciousness before her death a few hours after the discovery.

"Almost every inch of her body was covered by bruises, lacerations and what appear to be burns," a hospital physician said. Even the bottoms of her feet were burned.

Coroner Roy Carter, who performed an autopsy, said death was caused by an injury to the brain which resulted in a cerebral hemorrhage.

Miss Ponder was found shortly after last midnight by a sister, Mrs. Charles Rhodes of Covington, Ky., who said a Louisville man telephoned her yesterday that he was "uneasy" about Miss Ponder.

Mass Production
Of New Tucker Car
Set For January

Chicago, Sept. 12. (P)—Final settlement on the sale of Class "A" stock in the Tucker Corporation today showed total sales of 3,490,000 shares, and Preston Tucker, president of the corporation, said he expected his new automobile would be in mass production by next January.

Tucker accepted a check for $15,000,000, representing proceeds from the sale, from Floyd D. Cerf, Chicago investment banker. Tucker said this sum, together with another $2,000,000 already in the company treasury, was more than sufficient to take over the Dodge-Chicago plant where the radical rear-engine model is to be manufactured.

UNION SELLS GROCERIES AT COST—In an effort to absorb some of the pocketbook pinch stemming from the high price of food Local 400 of the United Auto Workers (CIO) in Detroit, Mich., has entered the grocery business. Here customers gather around counter of the store operated by members of union without pay and on a non-profit basis. A union spokesman said savings to members approximated 25 percent. John L. Lewis Blocks
AFL Compliance With The Taft-Hartley Act

BY HAROLD W. WARD

Chicago, Sept. 12. (P)—John L. Lewis today blocked AFL compliance with the Taft-Hartley act, at least for the time being, thereby closing the doors of the National Labor Relations Board to all 105 unions with 7,500,000 members.

Lewis opposed the signing of affidavits disavowing membership in the Communist party, required under the labor-management relations act.

Since the AFL executive council, comprising 15 officers of the AFL, had to act unanimously in order to comply with a ruling of General Counsel Robert N. Denham of the NLRB, Lewis' opposition was enough to stymie compliance.

The other members were prepared at one time to sign the affidavits, members of the council said.

AFL President William Green told a news conference that the council "could not conform to the Denham ruling."

UNION RAIL ROAD
STRIKE SETTLEDEmployees Of U. S. Steel
Captive Road Granted
15-Cent Raise

Pittsburgh, Sept. 12. (P)—An agreement to end the week-old strike of United States Steel's "captive" union railroad, calling for a wage increase of 15 cents an hour, was reached shortly before midnight tonight by negotiators for the road and the Brotherhoods of Locomotive Engineers and Railway Trainmen.

The employees were to return to work "immediately" which a spokesman said meant on the 7 a. m. shift tomorrow.

In addition to the pay raise, the railroad and brotherhood representatives agreed called for withdrawal of rules changes and "liberalized" vacation provisions.

"Concessions on working conditions were granted on both sides," said a joint statement.

Gov. Sigler Shifted For Observation In Lansing Hospital

Lansing, Sept. 12. (P)—Governor Sigler will be transferred to a Lansing hospital tomorrow for continued observation of an ailment diagnosed as an inflamed gall bladder.

The executive office said Dr. Cyrus B. Gardner, the governor's personal physician, had decided on the transfer from the Selfridge Field station hospital after a consultation with Col. Hervey Porter, chief surgeon at the field.

Dr. Gardner said Sigler would "see no one except those connected with the executive office" but would be permitted "limited executive activity."

The physician ordered the governor on a restricted diet and told him to cancel all speaking engagements for the remainder of the month. "At the present time an operation is not contemplated," Dr. Gardner said.

STEEL MILLS
FORESEE END OF SHORTAGESMILLIONS WILL BE SPENT TO BUILD UP CAPACITY

Washington, Sept. 12. (P)—Two leaders in the industry said today there should be plenty of steel within two years and a third testified that a big increase in productive capacity would increase inflation.

Earlier Chairman Edward Martin (R-Pa.), of a Senate small business sub-committee, said it would be "downright stupid" for the industry to take a "public be damned" attitude toward the present steel shortage when there is "growing pressure for nationalization of such big industries as steel, coal and the railroads."

And to officials of a dozen big steel companies attending a committee hearing on prospects of getting enough steel to satisfy everyone, Martin added in a statement:

"Bear this in mind — such nationalization has been suggested even on the floor of the United States Senate."

Facilities Enlarged

Benjamin Fairless, president of the U. S. Steel corporation, testified back in a statement of his own:

"It is simply amazing to me that anyone should suggest by inference or otherwise that U. S. Steel has a 'public be damned' attitude. Our attitude is, and always will continue to be, just the reverse."

He said U. S. Steel is spending $500,000,000 to boost capacity.

Eugene Grace, chairman of Bethlehem Steel company, handed the committee a statement saying his company's policy always has been "a continuous one of enlarging facilities to care for the national economy."

Fairless and Grace both figured the steel scarcity will be over within two years—if a scrap shortage eases up, other materials continue to be available and there are no long strikes.

The industry now can produce up to 91,000,000 tons of raw ingot steel a year. Noting there have been suggestions that the capacity be boosted as much as 30,000,000 tons, President Tom M. Girdler of Republic Steel corporation told the committee:

"I can come to only one conclusion—that a substantial increase in our steel capacity at this time would contribute nothing but further inflation."

Bread Lines Ahead?

It would be better, Girdler said, if people get along for a while with fewer cars, refrigerators and stoves in order to combat inflation and put up a "defense against bread lines, relief and Communism."

Industrialist Henry J. Kaiser, who runs the Fontana Steel mill on the west coast, listened to the give and take before the Senate committee. He ducked out for a while to go to a meeting of a House committee looking into war contracts.

Kaiser made an unsuccessful bid for an immediate investigation of his request that the Reconstruction Finance corporation, which loaned him money to build the wartime Fontana plant, cancel $34,510,000 of the $105,000,000 he still owes.

Kaiser said Rep. Rich (R-Pa.), a committee member, made a "threat" of an investigation should the RFC grant his request. He contended that if there is to be any RFC act, it should come before the RFC acts.

Street Car Sleeper
Ties Up Traffic In Chicago Loop Area

Chicago, Sept. 12. (P)—This is a bedtime story that turned Chicago's loop into a mess of clanging fire engines and rerouted trolley cars.

Jacob Heilmann, 74, fell asleep on a street car.

Passengers thought he was in a coma and screamed to the motorman that a man was dying. The motorman took the car off its Monroe street line and onto a La Salle street siding.

Fire department rescue crews were summoned and Capt. William McDonald, first on the scene, shook Heilmann.

"You're a sick man," the captain said. "Here's an inhalator for you."

"Nonsense," replied Heilmann. "I'm just sleepy."

"You should go to a hospital," said an official of the Street Railways Company who had also been summoned.

"I'm not sick, just sleepy," the old man protested.

He was taken to Hennrich hospital and given an examination.

"Nothing wrong, just sleepy," said the doctors.

World Bank Calls
For Self-Help To
Brace Up Europe

BY TOM WILLIAMS

London, Sept. 12. (P)—Both the World Bank and the World Monetary fund in their second annual reports today emphasized "self-help" in Europe's efforts to rebuild, and in Paris the final report of the 16-nation Marshall plan committee was postponed a week because of American criticisms.

Sir Oliver Franks, British chairman of the Marshall committee, said in Paris that William Clayton, U. S. undersecretary of State for economic affairs, had leveled six criticisms of the report, including one that it did not include enough evidence of European self-reliance. The committee, preparing a "help-us-recover" report, has whittled its prospective bill to the United States down to about $18,000,000,000 up to 1951.

"Increased production by the countries of Europe and the Far East must provide most of the goods needed to complete their reconstruction. Increased production can minimize and ultimately eliminate their need for extraordinary help in continuing essential imports."

The bank's recommendations on self-help paralleled in some cases the suggestions Clayton was reported to have made to the Marshall committee in Paris.

The bank urged restoration of internal financial stability through sound budgetary and tax practices, integration of national recovery programs, removal or reduction of trade barriers and fuller utilization of the production potential of German industry.

Paris dispatches said Clayton's criticisms of the 16-nation report in Paris were these:

1. Insufficient guarantees that the nations would set their own economic and financial houses in order.

2. Each nation seemed more interested in getting what it could for itself, rather than in taking an all-European approach.

3. Not enough said about reduction of trade barriers among the members.

4. Failure to explore possibilities of financing capital equipment from outside the United States, such as the International Bank.

5. Lack of solemn engagements by each nation to achieve production programs.

6. Lack of any organization to survey progress of the self-help program.

Police said they had been dead 24 hours when their bodies were found. One police spokesman said it appeared that Vigus and Miss Scott were killed, then their bodies stuffed into the car and driven to High Park in the W. end, where they were found.

Vigus had been missing from his home since Wednesday.

Tinsley said Miss Scott lived in a Toronto rooming house and that Vigus was a paper box factory foreman.

A parking lot attendant summoned police because Cigus' coupe had been standing in the lot all day Thursday. The two fully clothed bodies crammed into the rear luggage compartment were discovered when police examined the car.

Charles J. Douglas, 70, a Jackson school janitor, was injured fatally Friday morning when struck by a Michigan Central yard engine there. Police said he apparently was blinded by a heavy rain and did not see the warning signal.

Henry Souliere, a farmer of Emmett in St. Clair county, was struck and killed by lightning Thursday night as he and four companions took shelter in a milk house during a storm.

Reports from State Police and the State Highway Department indicated that many dirt roads in Macomb, Sanilac, Oakland and suburban Wayne counties had been made temporarily impassable by the torrential downpour that turned the thoroughfares into muddy paths.

Electric light and telephone company crews were hard put to restore service on lines in some areas that were disrupted temporarily by the combination of rain, lightning and high winds.

The Detroit weather bureau forecast widespread and fairly heavy rains for most of southern Michigan Friday night, but indicated the weather would clear up slightly over the weekend.

Scattered showers were forecast for Saturday, with general showers on Tuesday or Wednesday.

Rate Raise Hearing
Of Michigan Bell
Scheduled Oct. 16

Lansing, Sept. 12. (P)—Hearing on the Michigan Bell Telephone company's petition to raise rates $10,000,000 annually before the state public service commission, today was set for October 16.

The commission had previously set October 7 for the hearing but it was deferred at the request of William B. Dowling, Detroit corporation counsel, and James H. Lee, his assistant, the city has opposed the raise.

Two men from the U. S. public health service's Virus laboratory at Montgomery, Ala., arrived here today and planned to leave early tomorrow for the affected area.

Dr. W. L. Treuting, State health officer, said that a program of spraying barns and outbuildings with DDT, to protect human beings from infection, was being organized in Iberia Parish, and would be started in other parishes as soon as equipment is available.

AMERICAN AID
PROGRAM MAY BE TOO SLOWCOMMUNISTS READY TO BATTLE FOR RULE IN ROME

By John M. Hightower

Washington, Sept. 12. (P)—Diplomatic officials reported tonight that Italian Communists believed to be working under Moscow time table have launched their long-awaited "battle for Italy" and that the crisis is outrunning American plans for helping the Italian people.

These authorities say that the spreading strike of a million agricultural and industrial workers, the Socialist demand for a vote of no confidence in the De Gasperi government and other recent developments appear to be part of a Communist campaign to overthrow the government and capture Italy for the Soviet half of Europe. Much fear is reported to exist in Italy over the possibility of armed conflict.

High state department and other American officials are now exploring every possible means of throwing American assistance to the present non-Communist forces governing Italy in the hope of saving that nation for the west.

U. S. Hard Pressed

Conditions in Italy are among the foremost reasons why Secretary Marshall and Undersecretary of State Lovett are pressing for emergency aid to Europe this year as an advance against the Marshall long range recovery program. But the speed with which the Italian situation is developing, according to reports flowing into Washington, makes it clear that for the time being the U. S. will be hard pressed to find any effective counter moves to the campaign which Communist Leader Palmiro Togliatti has launched.

While the Italian situation was coming to the fore as the most urgent confronting the United States in western Europe, it was by no means the only one.

French Ambassador Henri Bonnet called on Secretary Marshall today and reviewed what he conceived to be his nation's urgent need for some kind of American aid this year. To reporters Bonnet said that France may have to cut further its imports from the United States, even in such essential supplies as wheat, fats, and coal. He reported Marshall as sympathetic.

Poland Wants Millions

Another state department caller was Josef Winiewicz, Polish ambassador. He declared that Poland is economically sound and wants a World Bank loan of $600,000,000 to help with its further development. His government also wants economic relations with the west, said the envoy from the eastern European country.

As one immediate evidence of the tension existing in the Italian-Yugoslav area, the state department disclosed today a "vigorous protest" to the Yugoslav foreign office against various seizures of British and American military personnel in the Trieste area. Five separate incidents were listed by the state department including four in which a total of nine Allied soldiers or sailors—two American

3 YOUNG LADS ADMIT ROBBERY

Junior High Boys Confess Breaking Into Gas Station

Three Escanaba junior high school lads were arrested by city police yesterday in North Escanaba and the youngsters readily confessed to breaking and entering Brunelle's Gas Station, 514 Stephenson avenue, the previous night, stealing a quantity of candy bars, gum, nuts and cigarettes.

Two of the lads and a third not involved in the robbery left their homes early in the week and were picked up by police in Iron Mountain Thursday. They were released by the Iron Mountain police after being detained for several hours.

Iron Mountain Police Chief Romagnoli notified Chief Ethenhofer of Escanaba that the youths were being held there and arrangements were made to return the boys to Escanaba. The youngsters had been released, however, when a car arrived in Iron Mountain to get the lads.

The youths hitch-hiked their way back to Escanaba, arriving here Thursday afternoon. One of the three boys left the group when the discussion turned to robbery but another young lad joined the party.

The boys entered Brunelle's station through a restroom window about two o'clock Friday morning.

Arresting on a tip, police searched North Escanaba yesterday and finally discovered the three youngsters with a portion of their loot.

The three lads, two of whom are 12 years old and the other 13, will be arraigned in probate court.

P. W. Snyders Attend Chicago Convention Of Telegraph Florists

Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Snyder attended the 34th annual international convention of the Florists Telegraph Delivery association, held in Chicago Sept. 1-5. Approximately 3500 delegates from the United States and Canada were present in addition to representatives from England, Holland, Scotland, New Zealand, South Africa, Philippine Islands and Palestine.

Mayor Kennelly of Chicago welcomed the florists to the city, decorated with hunting and banners down State street and welcome shields suspended from lamp-posts along many streets.

Following the mayor's address, the groups were entertained by Carmen Miranda and the ladies invited to see "Carousel" at the Schubert. Thursday a floral design school was held at Medinah Temple where clothes of prominent fashion designers were modeled with floral accentuation. In the evening the group saw "Call Me Mister."

Bergman Sisters End USO Tour; To Return To Stage And Radio

Leaving tomorrow after visiting relatives in Escanaba and Bark River are the Misses Beverly, Peggy and Ellen Bergman, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Bergman of Grosse Pointe Shores near Detroit, and formerly of Menominee.

The Bergman sisters, known as a vocal trio, "The Doleans," returned July 3 from the Pacific after one year with the USO entertaining servicemen stationed in that area. They had been overseas for six months.

Prior to their USO experience they sang in theaters and clubs in Detroit, and in cities in Texas. They have also entertained on the radio. Miss Beverly Bergman, representing the trio, said they would return to the stage and radio and eventually hoped to obtain bookings in Australia and the Pacific area.

Guardsmen To Compete In Recruiting Contest

Enlisted men of Company C, Delta county National Guard unit, will compete in a two-month recruiting contest starting on National Guard Day next Tuesday to enlist a quota of 33 new members in the local organization.

They will compete for state prizes, which will include an airplane trip to Washington and attendance at the Army-Navy football game, Capt. Roy Johnson, Company C commander, said yesterday.

President Harry Truman and Governor Kim Sigler have designated Tuesday, Sept. 16, as National Guard Day, on which day a nationwide recruiting drive will get underway.

JEWS OBSERVE ROSH HASHONAH

Services Planned Here By Rabbi Weiss Of Chicago

At sundown Sunday, Jewish people the world over will begin their observance of Rosh Hashonah, the Jewish New Year.

This marks the beginning of the year 5708 in the Hebrew religious calendar. It ushers in the High Holy Days season, the ten day period which is the central one in the Jewish faith and ends on Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, the most solemn day of the Jewish faith.

Although Rosh Hashonah is considered a joyous religious celebration, filled with hope and optimism, New Year's greetings from rabbis and rabbinical associations throughout the country carry a note of sadness. Almost all refer to world unrest and the desperate plight of Jews in Europe and Palestine.

Services ushering in the New Year in Escanaba will be started at 7:00 Sunday evening, Sept. 14. Services are to be held in Carpenter's Hall, a half block off Ludington on South 9th street.

Services will begin at 9:30 a. m. Monday, September 15 and Tuesday, September 16. Rabbi Nathan I. Weiss of Chicago, who is in charge of services here, will deliver the sermon at 10:30 each morning.

Action On Luick Deal Is Deferred

Iron River—City commissioners, at a brief meeting late yesterday afternoon, deferred action until next Thursday night on the question of whether granting a permit to Forrest Lawrie, of Iron River, distributor for Luick's Sealtest dairy products in Iron and Dickinson counties, violates the federal health ordinance.

The commission is curious to know how the Iron Mountain city council disposes of a similar controversy. Word is also expected from Dr. R. G. Wetterstrom, county health director, who is waiting for an interpretation of the ordinance from federal authorities in Washington.

Lawrie is anxious to proceed with plans to establish his distributorship.

Captain Johnson said Company C, which now comprises 82 men, will have 89 per cent of its total authorized strength of 129 if this quota is attained.

In addition to basic privates, who will be trained in various specialties, Company C will enlist World War II veterans in their highest wartime grade in some military specialties. War veterans are particularly wanted to help in the training of young Guardsmen.

The state winner of the recruiting contest will be a guest of the War Department on the Washington trip. With other state winners, he will visit the White House, be entertained at luncheons by War Department officials and members of Congress, tour the Capital, attend a New York broadcast of National Guard Assembly, the network radio program sponsored by the Guard and starring Paul Whiteman. Climax of the trip will be attendance at the Army-Navy football game in Philadelphia Nov. 29.

Men between 17 and 35 may enlist in the Guard now and be eligible to participate in the contest. Company C meets every Wednesday evening at 7:30 at the State Armory, Armory, Escanaba.

Information about the National Guard may be procured at the Army recruiting office, 1205 Ludington street.

Two Boys Admit Taking Ornament From Buick Cars

Local police reported yesterday that two senior high school youngsters have admitted stealing ornamental bombights that decorate the front hood of 1947 Buick automobiles.

A large number of Buick bombights have been stolen in Escanaba and police have been on the lookout for the culprits for months. Thursday afternoon four of the bombights appeared on the front steps of the police station and yesterday two youths were arrested by city police. Each of the boys admitted stealing one bombight Thursday night but denied responsibility for previous thefts of the ornamental gadgets.

The bombights have been taken apparently for use as bracelets. Police in many other cities throughout the nation also have reported similar experiences.

LOGGERS STUDY AERIAL MAPS

Special Course Offered At U. of Michigan Forestry Camp

Iron River—Use of aerial photographs in management of timber lands—newest method in logging timber and pulpwood—is being taught in a special course to a group of 20 lumbermen and pulp-land owners at Filbert Roth, University of Michigan summer forestry camp at Golden Lake.

Men attending the special course are from Texas, Louisiana, New York, Michigan, Wisconsin and Ontario, Can., Prof. Robert Craig, Jr., camp director, said yesterday. Twelve of the 20 are Michigan alumni, some of whom attended the summer school at Golden Lake during their undergraduate days.

In charge of instruction are Frank Murray and John Carow, who also were attached to the staff during the regular summer school session for forestry students studying for their degrees. Special equipment has been brought here from the university forestry school.

Owners of vast timber and pulpwood lands are already making use of aerial photography in their operations. They are able to detect, more accurately, where certain stands of timber and pulpwood are located.

The 67 students who attended camp during the summer left for their homes last week-end, after completing a 12-week course. A part of their study this year included a field trip to Marquette county, where they spent a week. The students will return to their classes in Ann Arbor on Sept. 22, opening of the fall term.

Formal installation of the Most Rev. Thomas L. Noa as eighth bishop of the Cath. lic diocese of Marquette, succeeding the late Bishop Francis L. Wagner, will take place on Wednesday, Sept. 24, in St. Peter's cathedral, Marquette.

Bishop Noa, who was born in Iron Mountain in December, 1892, now is coadjutor to Bishop Edmond Heelan, Sioux City, Ia. His appointment to the Marquette diocese, made by Pope Pius XII, was announced on Monday, Aug. 25, by the Apostolic Delegate in Washington, D. C.

Shortly after notice of the appointment was received in Marquette, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph L. Zryd, who has been administrator of the diocese since the death of Bishop Wagner, went to Chicago to meet Bishop Noa and Edward Cardinal Mooney, archbishop of Detroit. The date for the formal installation was set at that meeting.

Bishop Noa, enroute to Marquette for the installation, will be met in Chicago on Monday, Sept. 22, by Monsignors Zryd, Holland and Jodocy, who will escort their new bishop to the Upper Peninsula.

Washington—Sudden outbreak of infantile paralysis in Ohio with sharp increases in the numbers of cases in a few other states brought a new high number of cases for the year during the week ended Sept. 6, latest for which official figures have been reported to the U. S. Public Health Service here.

With all state figures in except Wyoming, which had no cases in the preceding week, polio cases reached 823, compared with 602 for the week before. The epidemic in Ohio, reported to be centered in the Akron area, accounted for more than half of the increase as Ohio jumped from 39 to 195 cases officially reported. Other states with increased numbers of polio cases included New York with 95, compared with 53 cases for the preceding week, and Indiana which increased from 7 to 26 cases.

CRASH AND FIRE DESTROY PLANE—Harold Woodard of Cornell, on whose farm a plane engaged in potato dusting crashed and burned on Thursday, views the wreckage in the woods south of the potato field. The pilot, Richard Jones, of Manistique, was only slightly injured and escaped from the plane before it caught fire. The plane was owned by the Northern Dusting company of Manistique and has been dusting fields in Delta, Schoolcraft and Alger counties this summer. Cause of the accident was ascribed to motor trouble as the plane turned to head back over the field on the Woodard farm.

Dusting Plane Motor Did Not 'Konk Out', Investigation Shows

Michigan state police yesterday investigated the airplane accident near Cornell in which Richard Jones, 23, Manistique, crashed while dusting potatoes at the Harold Woodard farm. Testimony of the only two eye-witnesses to the crash, Everett Wolf and Louis Tuyls, indicated the motor did not cut out until the plane hit the ground.

Buyers on Strike

THE American people are becoming more alarmed at the steady increase in living costs, particularly foods, and in some sections aroused housewives are organizing buyers' strikes against high prices.

Similar buyers' strikes were attempted a year ago in several parts of the country, particularly in metropolitan areas, and they proved to be a feeble weapon against skyrocketing living costs. If the movement gained national support, the effectiveness of buyers' resistance might be apparent. The sad truth is that people have to eat. Limited success can be achieved against high prices of certain commodities, such as butter for which low-cost oleomargarine makes a satisfactory substitute, but knocking down the price of one or two food items will not solve the price squeeze to which the American people are being subjected.

In Detroit, the UAW is opening a couple grocery stores to serve its members but the national food price situation will never be solved that way, either. The main fault lies in the spiraling prices of food commodities on the wholesale level. Closely linked with the rising price market is the increased demand of European nations for more food from the American market and, of course, the unhappy situation in corn production, hard hit by summer's drought.

Selfish individuals are taking advantage of the situation to skyrocket their own profits, without either realizing or caring for the plight in which they are putting the American people as a whole and the starving people abroad as well.

The constantly rising food price situation is heading the nation towards economic disaster. Inevitably it will mean further demands for wage increases in every line of industry and service, which in turn will mean still higher prices until ultimately the whole economic structure will fall like a house of cards.

As ineffective as buyers' strikes have proved to be in the past, this approach to the problem seems to be about all that is left for American consumers as a move in their own behalf.

Starr Commonwealth

STARR Commonwealth, the unique educational institution for boys founded by Floyd Starr, is now celebrating its third of a century of achievement.

From the old farm and the barn, where Uncle Floyd and two boys first slept in 1913, Starr Commonwealth, located three miles west of Albion, has become a school and home, where many shelterless and misguided boys have straightened out their lives to later become good citizens. The 1000th boy was graduated from Starr Commonwealth in 1945. More than 400 of its graduates served in the armed forces during the war. Annual enrollment is now about 160 boys.

Starr Commonwealth is not a state institution. It is maintained through the contributions of citizens and organizations all over the country, who recognize the good work it is doing. Doubtless, its achievements are largely due to the strict observance of the Starr Commonwealth creed:

We believe that there is no such thing as a bad boy.

We believe that badness is not a normal condition but is the result of misdirected energy.

We believe that every normal boy will be good if given an opportunity in an environment of love and activity.

We believe in the dignity of labor. We believe that each child should be given some work suitable to childhood and that he should be taught that the value of labor is to be found not alone in the completed task but in the training of the mind and the hand and in the joy of accomplishment.

We believe also in play. Play is the child's normal means of self-expression.

We believe that to attain the full stature of man, spiritual development should go hand in hand with physical, mental, and moral development.

We believe that boys should be treated, not as a class, but as individuals, and that each boy, in order that he may reach his highest development, must be understood. We hold that his ambition must be stimulated and developed, and that he must be encouraged and loved toward perfection.

We believe that boys merit confidence and trust, and that the secret of the development of honor in a boy lies in appealing to his inherent goodness. In order that he may attain perfect manhood, we believe in placing a boy on his honor at all times and giving him the sympathy and encouragement necessary to enable him to maintain his integrity.

O. Henry

THE eighty-fifth anniversary of the birth of William Sydney Porter, the immortal O. Henry of the American short story, was celebrated in his birthplace, Greensboro, N. C., last night with the formal opening of a memorial room in that city's civic center.

Original manuscripts, letters and first editions of O. Henry's works are included in a memorial exhibit, which has been assembled by the Greensboro Historical Museum society. Even a section of Dr. Porter's drug store, where O. Henry worked as a boy, has been re-created as a part of the memorial.

The literary works of O. Henry have delighted millions of readers in this country and abroad. He was a master of the short story, particularly those with the tricky endings. One might be led to believe that O. Henry led the life of Riley, but the truth is that he suffered many trials and tribulations.

He had to quit the druggist's career at an early age because of ill health. He became a teller in an Austin, Tex., bank, and after four years entered newspaper work in San Antonio. His first bad break came when he was convicted on bank embezzlement charges and served three years in prison. Long since it was proven that this was a gross miscarriage of justice.

Upon his release from prison, he went in the spring of 1902 to New York, which became his beloved "Bagdad-on-the-Subway," where he reached his height of literary productivity. He wrote 67 of his famous stories in 1904, and 54 more in 1905. But ill health plagued him again. He died in a New York hospital in 1910 at the age of 43 and at the peak of his fame.

It is fitting that O. Henry's home town should at last pay tribute to one of America's renowned literary personalities.

Cities Study Tax Plan

ALTHOUGH conceding the inequities that exist in the apportionment of the Michigan sales tax revenues under the tax diversion amendment adopted by voters last November, Michigan cities are not yet ready to take sides for or against the movement to repeal the tax diversion amendment.

Cities now draw one-sixth, or about $30,000,000, of the sales tax collections, representing a substantial windfall for them under the amendment which was enacted primarily by the school lobby. The cities have made it clear at their conference in Marquette that they will fight to retain their share of the swag, although they believe that other phases of the distribution formula, the portion that goes to schools and townships, should be revised.

The schools, who led the fight for the amendment and secured its adoption in the referendum, will naturally muster all of their forces to retain their financial gains by resisting efforts to repeal the amendment and it may be presumed that the townships will do likewise, although relatively few townships can show a genuine need for the $7,000,000 they now receive under the diversion.

The cities would like to see the counties receive the share now going to the townships which is understandable because the counties obviously need the funds more than the townships do. To accomplish that objective, however, would necessitate repeal of the present amendment.

In effect, what the cities are saying is that they might support efforts to correct present inequities in the sales tax amendment but not if the proposed changes would cost the cities any of their present share of the swag.

DON'T BE BUMS, HEROES!

(Detroit News)

The property damage done by what one hotel manager calls "the ragtag and bobtail of the Legionnaires" whose national convention was held last week in New York, is covered by a bond which the Legion posts to reimburse contract hotels against unusual damage or loss.

Nevertheless his point is well taken that the great majority of the Legion who keep their fun within bounds and are thoroughly desirable guests ought, in justice to themselves and the organization, to get the "rowdism, vulgarity and vandalism" of this small minority in hand.

The damage to the hotel in question is set at $20,000.

Men will be boys on these occasions, but even in boys we look for behavior which accommodates the rights and feelings of others. A few irresponsibles in a gathering of many thousands can leave an impression which the good behavior of the rest and compensation for damage done can not efface.

The naturalists who say that wild life is disappearing should stay out late a couple of nights.

Q. In writing of negotiations that are deadlocked or at a standstill, should I write, "We have reached an 'in posse' or 'im posse'?"—K. C.

A. The correct word is imposse, a French word meaning "a blind alley, a cul-de-sac," hence, figuratively, in a position which offers no solution or escape. The English pronunciation is: im-PASS; or: IM-pass.

Q. Is a list of items of business for transacting at a meeting an "agendum" or an "agenda"?—J. F. P.

A. Agendum is singular: "A thing to be done." Agenda is plural: "Things to be done." In these days we do not often see the singular form agendum. It is customary to use agenda as both singular and plural. Hence, a list or memorandum of things to be done is customarily called an agenda.

Q. Will you please advise whether the word "thefted" is correct in the following sentence, "If this bag was thefted from the train it will be extremely difficult to dis-

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Warsaw, Poland—Ninety-six percent of all Poles are Roman Catholics. It is against this background that a few resourceful, shrewd, ruthless men in the Polish government are trying to bring about a Communist revolution.

Childs

In the parliament the question came up of what oath the officers of the government were to take. Before the war they were required to swear "By Almighty God" that they would be faithful to the law of the land.

The Socialists in the parliament demanded that the words "Almighty God" be taken out and that a simple "I Promise" be substituted. This was in line with their long, free-thinking, anti-religious tradition.

But the Communists in the parliament demanded that "I swear by Almighty God" be retained in the oath. As usual they won, and the Socialists abstained from voting.

This typifies the way in which the Communist managers of Poland's revolution are approaching their task. Some of the harsher doctrines of the early days of Bolshevism have been expediently brushed aside. But nevertheless the machinery for absolute control over the nation's economic life is being organized and put into effect as swiftly as possible.

—BERMAN IS BOSS—

One of the key managers—some say he is the most powerful figure in the government—is Jakub Berman. His official title is undersecretary of state of the Council of Ministers. An intellectual and historian, steeped in Marxism, he escaped to Moscow in 1939 and returned with the Red Army.

I had an hour's talk with Berman in his office in the building which houses the Council of Ministers. It is one of the very few structures in the center of Warsaw that was not deliberately destroyed by the Germans. He has a massive, imperturbable calm, almost white hair that recedes from a high, domed forehead, and eyes that are fathomless in depth.

His office is a tiny piece of the past in shattered Warsaw. In one corner is the figure of a Polish Saint in dark wood. On one wall is a large painting of a winter scene, with a Polish peasant walking down a desolate, rutted road.

I put to Berman the question that is in the minds of many Poles today: "Will Poland some day be the 17th Republic of the Soviet Union?" "Poland," he replied, "will always be an independent state. Poland will always be a Catholic state."

—STATE HAS ABSOLUTE POWER—

Most of what he said was, of course, the rationalization that one gets from the government in response to any question concerning the far-reaching new decrees designed to alter Poland's economy. It is the same rationalization one gets in defense of the censorship of all Polish newspapers, and it goes something like this:

"These are only temporary measures. Our country is just now in a very troubled condition. There are elements seeking to create chaos and confusion. They must not be allowed to cause further dissension."

The new laws are drawn so broadly that they give the state what is virtually absolute power. Take, for example, the decree of June 13, 1946, which covers a large number of offenses in business and industry. Imprisonment is provided for "whoever commits an act of sabotage such as making the regular work of the offices, workshops, machinery, plant and equipment . . . difficult or impossible." "Whoever spreads fake news which is capable of injuring essentially the interests of the Polish state or of lowering the dignity of its authoritative organs" can be sentenced to prison for not more than five years.

The economic thumb screws are being tightened from day to day. The government has the power to channel all goods into industry and agriculture. On the farms this is being used to convert the once-independent producers' cooperatives into a controlled instrument of the state. In business it is being used to eliminate anyone not wanted. The power of taxation is also employed discriminatorily by the state to make over the political and economic structure.

Perhaps in spite of this program rather than because of it, reconstruction is going forward here. Buildings are slowly being repaired. Coal production is said to be nearly at the pre-war level. Sizeable amounts of coal are being exported.

The contrast with Germany is striking. The people in the streets have an air, a pride, a spirit, that even the passing stranger cannot miss. One remembers that through the centuries the people of Poland have fought off many invaders, maintaining through the most terrible adversity an unconquerable spirit and an unquenchable vitality.

A. There is no such word as "thefted" for the reason that "theft" is a noun and not a verb. A noun cannot have a past tense in -ed, or any other tense. Better say: If this bag was stolen . . . Also correct: If this bag was taken by theft . . .

Do not write "alright, alright," or "all-right." The proper form is: all right (two words).

Distinguish this between "al-ready" and "all ready"; School was already (by that time) in session. The students were all ready (all of them were ready) for the examination.

Why it is incorrect to say "feel badly; look badly; arrive safely"? These common mistakes are corrected in simple, non-technical language. For a free copy of my "Feel Badly" pamphlet, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Frank Colby, in care of this paper.

GAMBLING STORIES—The U. S. Post Office Department has "cautioned" the St. Louis Star-Times for publishing the story of Times for publishing the story of a lottery conducted by a Kwanian club in which a Negro won the automobile prize and was then denied it because the club said it was only for whites. He later received payment equivalent to the automobile after the story was given nationwide circulation by newspaper and radio.

U. S. postal regulations prohibit use of the mails "for all matter concerning any lottery, so-called gift distribution, end-ess chain enterprise or other enterprise of chance."

In an effort to be circumspect, newspapers therefore term big games "corn parties," "feather parties," "an evening of games."

Where a lottery or drawing was conducted it will be reported that "a door prize was awarded." Everyone knows that betting on the horses is a popular pastime at every race track in the country, yet newspapers report on the results of the races. The Kentucky Derby, for instance, is news even without the gambling.

What the Postal department overlooks is that newspapers feel an obligation to report what people are doing. Because law enforcement fails to halt gambling, newspapers should not be penalized for reporting gambling activities.

DEFINITIONS—A new word has been added to the dictionary. Funk & Wagnalls New College Standard dictionary defines bogie-woogie as: "A type of piano blues characterized by a rhythmic, ostinato bass with free rhapsodizing in the right hand, composed of numerous short figures in varied rhythms." Which is a high-falutin' way to say headache.

STRAIGHT-SHOOTERS CLUB

—Duck hunters this fall will find that indiscriminate shooting will cost them more money. Like everything else, the price has gone up. Shotgun shells are reported selling at nine or 10 cents apiece, and the trigger-happy hunter will probably think twice before unloading his automatic while ducks are out of range.

This will prove a help in the long run, especially in the Portage Bay area. Duck hunters say the lead pellets fall like hail at times when the amateurs start "sky shooting." Besides the higher cost of shells, hunters will pay $2 for the Michigan license, plus $1 for the federal duck stamp.

FEMININE NOTE—The SPEBSQSA—which means plain old Barbershop Quartet singers—are to have feminine rivals in the Sweet Adelines. A national organization of Sweet Adelines is expected to be organized in October at Tulsa, Okla. Previously the feminine note was heard only under SPEB sponsorship, but the girls want to be vocal in their own right.

What with all the dissension, national and international, it is heartening to hear of people organizing for four-part harmony. The Sweet Adelines may lack a bass necessary for "Asleep in the Deep," but the result will be infinitely superior to some of the dissonance engendered by a "friendly" game of bridge.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—Secretary of the Navy Forrestal was talking to an associate of Henry Kaiser, the big, breezy west coast manufacturer.

"When Henry comes to town," remarked Forrestal, half-joking, half-serious, "we all know it, and we also know he wants something. So we all gang up on him and determine he won't get it."

"But before he's finished, what he's after makes so much sense that usually he gets what he wants."

This week Kaiser was in town again, ringing office doorbells, badgering bureaucrats, trying to sell another idea—that we can't lick inflation until we have production, especially production of steel.

The idea is by no means new, but Henry has been pushing it harder than anyone else so far; also, he's come up with some potent figures. They are aimed to disprove the arguments of Big Steel that the nation has plenty of steel mills, can't afford to build more mills for fear of having idle plants on our hands later. This is the chief reason for the steel bottleneck today—Big Steel won't build new plants.

However, Kaiser has dug up figures to show that ever since 1901, the USA has built new steel plants at a rate which increased our production by an average of around 1,500,000 ingot tons per year. In other words, every year—except for one or two depression years—we have built new steel mills. We have been a growing, expanding, industrially progressive nation.

"Are we now to sit back complacently and tell ourselves that we won't continue to grow?"

This is the question brash, breezy Henry Kaiser has been asking bureaucrats this week. So far they haven't given him an answer.

NOTE—To get around arguments by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Inland, etc., that they can't afford to build new steel plants and have them idle after the current boom, Kaiser proposes: Let the steel companies take a tax depreciation on their new plants over only a five-year period—as with war plants. Then the capital expense of new mills would be partly borne by the government through tax allowances.

—QUICK ROMANCE—

Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins, charming widow of the late U. S. Minister to Canada, was seated at dinner beside Stanton Griffis, newly appointed U. S. Ambassador to Poland.

Ambassador Griffis was telling Mrs. Robbins about his problem of getting a house to live in in Warsaw and how to get servants to run it. Mrs. Robbins, a cousin by marriage of FDR, and who had lived all over the world with her late diplomat-husband, gave many helpful suggestions.

Finally, Ambassador Griffis, fascinated by Mrs. Robbins' charm, jokingly remarked:

"Why, you're just the person I'm looking for. How about marrying me and going to Poland to run my embassy?"

Facetiously, Mrs. Robbins accepted. Sitting near them at the table was Camille Gutt of Belgium, managing director of the International Monetary Fund. As the dinner broke up, he remarked to Mrs. Robbins:

"I hope you have a lovely trip to Poland, and my congratulations on your impending marriage."

—GENTLEMAN FROM KENTUCKY— This column ordinarily does not comment on the private lives or habits of congressmen. What they do in their own homes or in private does not necessarily concern the public.

However, what a congressman does on an official trip, taken at the taxpayers' expense, and when he represents not only his constituents but the government of the United States, is a matter for public scrutiny and comment. Should a U. S. ambassador make a spectacle of himself publicly while on a foreign mission, the public has a right to know about it. Likewise with a congressman.

Such an unfortunate incident occurred with Democratic Congressman Virgil Chapman during a recent congressional inspection trip through Alaska. The gentleman from Kentucky fell so lamentably below Kentucky standards when it came to holding his liquor that once he failed to show up at an official Noon luncheon and was taken off to the hospital.

Finally, embarrassed colleagues decided to try to keep liquor away from Chapman. This required tact and intrigue.

Once, in a public lounge, when Chapman shouted for a drink thoughtful Rep. Leonard Hall, New York Republican, hastily offered to buy it. Then, after whispering to the understanding barkeeper, Hall pounded on the bar and, with mock anger, shouted:

"Let's go back to our hotel room. The service here is terrible."

Chapman agreed to retire to his own room, much to the relief of colleagues.

NOTE—Asked by this column if he had any comment or explanation to make of his Alaskan trip, Congressman Chapman almost burned up the telephone wire. "It's a pack of lies," he shouted. "If the story is printed, I am holding you personally responsible."

LOW FLYING IS FROWNED UPON

G-I Trainee Is Arrested, Fined For "Buzzing" Residence

Reckless flying of an airplane cost Joseph E. Roberts of Flat Rock $25 and court charges and his opportunity for further aeronautical training under the G-I Bill.

Roberts was arrested by state police after he "buzzed" a residence near Carroll's Corner and flew dangerously low over a residential area late Thursday afternoon.

He was brought before Justice of Peace A. T. Sohlberg here yesterday and upon his plea of guilty was fined $25 and costs of $3.35.

Because of the offense he loses any further aeronautical training with government assistance under the G-I Bill of Rights, it was pointed out by Bill Garrett, city, who is in charge of aeronautics for the Veterans Administration, with headquarters in Escanaba.

Roberts recently obtained his private pilot's license through training obtained as a G-I.

He may obtain schooling or some other type of training with government assistance, it was stated.

Corn Driers Will Be On Sale Soon

Lafayette, Ind. (SS)—Corn isn't going to be lost through spoilage in the cribs next winter and spring, if American agricultural engineers and manufacturers of drying machinery can do anything to prevent it. At a conference held here on the Purdue University campus, they looked over specifications laid before them by Wallace Ashby and Arthur W. Turner of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and answered, "can do."

Corn picked before it is fully mature, as much of this year's crop will have to be, contains too much moisture for safe storage in cribs. In even cool weather it will grow moldy, and the heat generated by this biological process speeds its ruin.

The answer is to dry it out in the crib. Corn is cribbed while it is still on the ear, so that there are channels and spaces through which currents of warm air can be blown. Temperatures have to be carefully regulated to prevent overheating, and of course the drying process should not be unnecessarily prolonged because it costs money. That is where the agricultural engineers come in. Each region has its own requirements, based largely on climate, so that differences must be adjusted state by state.

EXPLAINS WORK OF MOMS CLUBS

State President Here
On Official
Visit

"Mom's Clubs, Inc.," an organization made up entirely of mothers whose sons or daughters have seen service in war, is rendering a great service, Mrs. Kenneth Foust, state president of the organization, told a Mom's club assembly at the recreation center last Thursday evening.

Mrs. Foust, who is also second vice president of the national organization and who is making her first visit to Upper Michigan, states that while the membership of this organization is small and the number of units in Michigan are few (there are 45 in the state) this organization is doing a wonderfully worthwhile work in visiting veterans hospitals, cheering the patients, helping them with numerous problems and impressing those veterans who are apt to be discouraged, that they are not forgotten.

Members of her unit at Dearborn visit 470 patients at the veterans' hospital there every Tuesday. The hospital will soon be increased to provide 1100 beds. They distribute numerous gifts designed for the comfort and convenience of the veterans, specializing particularly in the distribution of leather slippers, white socks and toilet articles.

Moms clubs were formed in Dearborn shortly before the outbreak of World War II by mothers of young men of military age, who were alarmed by warlike trends and who wished to do what they could to avert war. When the war broke out they organized to help young servicemen in their area. They opened up a seven-room service center which they maintained and enlarged upon until the war was over.

Among the many projects of which they are proud is a greenhouse at Fort Custer, which they have purchased and are maintaining in an effort to help rehabilitate mental patients at the hospital there.

Mrs. Foust is a gold star mother, having lost two sons in the service. One of her boys was reported missing for many months before his death was finally verified. She says her work with the boys in the hospitals has, more than any other factor, enabled her to bear up under the ordeal. Many of her co-workers also are gold star mothers, she said.

Mrs. Henry Gauthier, president of the local unit, presided at the meeting which was favored with a good attendance.

Big Spring Is No Good For Swimming, Visitor Discovers

A visitor at the Big Spring early this week was told that the waters of that pool are so cold that a frog dropped into its depths stiffens off immediately.

He appeared skeptical and in the bantering which followed an argument between himself and a companion finally decided to jump in and see what the effects would be upon himself personally. Stripped to his underwear he jumped in and swam once around the raft.

The lad, whose identity was not learned, is now convinced that the Big Spring's waters are not adapted for other human beings or frogs.

WILL PURCHASE RED PINE CONES

Local Conservation
Office To Handle
Local Crop

There will again be a market for red pine cones, Carl Makel, district forester, reports.

The state conservation department is paying $5 per bushel for these cones and the price is expected to interest professional pickers, but the demand for this crop is so great that aid of school children is also being asked.

The seed from these cones is urgently needed for the conservation department's long range reforestation program, which still suffers from the wartime suspension of nursery operations. The department Makel explained, must get red pine cones this fall for nursery seeding next year if the reforestation goal of 48,000,000 trees planted by 1954 is to be attained.

Anyone having red pine cones for sale may contact Mr. Makel at the Escanaba Daily Press building in Manistique. If the cones cannot be delivered, he will call for them if notified by telephone or post card. His telephone numbers are 20 or 387-J.

Red pine cones, when ripe, are deep purple in color and have brown scale tips. This office is not in the market for white pine cones.

Advices Prompt Action On Spud Price Support

Norman Stauffer, chairman of the Schoolcraft County AAA, is issuing a notice this week to potato growers in the area that if they wish to be sure of the department of agriculture's price support on potatoes they should be sure to pay the required one cent per hundredweight on them by September 15.

He says an extension on this date has been applied for but he is not certain it will be allowed.

St. Joe, Gladstone Elevens Clash Here Today

City's 1947 Inaugural Finds Trojans Set To Meet U. P. Champions

Nothing less than the Gladstone Braves, 1946 Upper Peninsula champion, will be the opposition for Escanaba's St. Joseph Trojans when they square off at the high school athletic field here this afternoon for the season's opener. The opening kickoff is slated for 2 p. m.

Employing a modified Minnesota single-wing back formation with unbalanced line, the Trojans, who last year won three games, tied one and lost one, will go into today's game fortified with nine returning lettermen and plenty of spirit.

Under the able tutelage of Coaches Clarence Needham and Fritz Farrell, the Trojans—too early in the season to be called the mighty Trojans—have been practicing diligently for about a month and with one exception are in fine fettle for today's melee.

Ramspeck Game Captain

That exception is one Leo Schaut, a capable tackle, who broke a finger in practice last Tuesday. He'll be suited up, ready for utility duty, but—well, a broken finger is a broken finger. All decked out in new uniforms for the 1947 opener, these Trojans are listed as probable starters: Jack Miron, left end; Bill Bowden, left tackle; Fred McGuigan, left guard; Ray Menard, center; Wally Marenger, right guard; Gordon Hermes, right tackle; Bill Courneen, right end; Gerald Harris, quarterback; Bob Ramspeck, left half and game captain; Buddy LaViolette, right half, and Harold Marenger, fullback.

In addition to Leo "Finger" Schaut, John Rademacher is ready for a tackle utility role. Other guards available are Forrest List and Dick Wagner, and David Rademacher will spell off Menard at center.

Large Crowd Expected

Backfield men slated to see plenty of action as Mentors Needham and Farrell try various combinations under fire in the opener are Dick Smokovich, quarterback; Gerald Tanguay and Bob Tupper, right and left half, respectively, and Gerald Gleich, fullback.

The St. Joe line averages 170 and the backfield hits 160, which gives the parochials a well-balanced aggregation with a fair measure of beef in the line for a high school crew.

Inasmuch as this is St. Joe's opener and a host of Gladstone fans are expected to be on hand for the Braves' inaugural, a large crowd is anticipated. This will be the Trojans' only home appearance for a month. Their next home game will not be until Oct. 11, when they will be host to Norway.

Gladstone, Sept. 12—The Braves of Gladstone high school open their gridiron season Saturday against St. Joseph of Escanaba at Escanaba, renewing a gridiron rivalry which ran for many years and which was interrupted when St. Joseph dropped football from their athletic program.

Completing the backfield are Doug Madden at quarterback and Ken Lessard, fullback last year, who won a letter and did some nifty ball totting in a number of games.

In the line will be Butler, Gary Soderman and Rudy Valencic at guards, John Kuchan and Robert Beaudry at tackles and Joe Moreau and Dick Skoglund at ends. Moreau did some excellent running as a half back last fall and Kuchan will be remembered for his work in the Escanaba game.

Officers will be elected and other business matters pertaining to the organization will be discussed, including plans for the coming season.

GERSICK NIGHT AT MEMORIAL

Taverns, VFW Feature Twin Bill Softball Benefit

Two old rivals of the past softball season, the Escanaba Taverns and VFW, will meet tonight in the feature game of a benefit doubleheader at Memorial Field. The proceeds will go to Nick Gersick, Tavern outfielder, who broke his wrist in the city tournament last Saturday.

Tonight's contest marks the fifth engagement of these top teams this year. Each club has now won two games, and this evening's battle is in the nature of a saw-off. The Vets are the champions of this district and the Taverns copped the city tournament last week.

Sullivan or Gereau will be on the hill for the Taverns with Woods or Anderson, behind the plate. The VFW will use Paul Larson or Kositzke on the mound, and Dave Larson is a sure starter in the catching spot.

The first game tonight, scheduled for 7:15, will bring together the two finalists of the city tournament—Farmers Supply and the Knights of Columbus. The Supply nine won that game and took the National league title away from the Kaysees. Farmers Supply will open with Weber and Moran, and the Knights will rely on LaCrosse and Brown for their battery.

The advance sale of tickets for this program has been rather brisk and a large crowd is expected. All players who have tickets or money are requested to check in at the Denver Tavern this afternoon.

Blue Devils Respect Eskymos In Football Battle At Soo Today

Faced with a 14-year jinx and the shadow of Warren "Moose" Gustafson hovering on the St. Mary's river horizon, the Sault Ste. Marie Blue Devils have plenty of respect for the Escanaba Eskymos who will open their 1947 season at the Soo this afternoon. The game will start at 2, Escanaba time.

It has been 14 years since Soo beat an Escanaba football team. Last season, the Blue Devils thought they had something cooking until one "Moose" cut loose and stomped on the invading Devils here to the tune of 18-16.

PHILLIES BOW TWICE TO CUBS

Chicago Collects Seven Extra Base Knocks In 4-3, 7-5 Wins

Chicago, Sept. 12 (P)—The Chicago Cubs slammed out seven extra base hits in sweeping a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Phillies today, winning the first 4 to 3 and the second, in which the Phils made five errors, 7 to 5.

Homeers by Cliff Abernethy and Ray Mack and a triple by Bob Sturgeon drove across all of Chicago's runs in the opener. With the score tied 3-all in the ninth, Mack was safe on Ralph LaPointe's error and scored on Sturgeon's triple along the left field line. Ralph Hamner, making his National League debut, allowed the Phillies 12 hits, all of them singles.

In the second game, played under the protest of the Phillies' manager, Ben Chapman, the Cubs broke a 5-5 tie in the seventh, on a double by Ed Waitkus, a single by Abernethy—who later was out on a double play—a triple by Bill Nicholson and a walk by Clyde McPhail.

Chapman's protest was made on whether an overthrow went into the visitor's dugout. Philadelphia 001 001 100—3 12 1 Chicago . . . 001 200 001—4 8 1 Heinzelman and Lakeman; Hammer and Scheffing. City Junior Touch Football Program Begins Here Today

The city junior touch football program will get underway today with a practice session at Royce park at 10 this morning for south Escanaba youngsters and at Webster playgrounds at 1:30 this afternoon for north Escanabas. Mickey Kuchanberg will teach the youngsters fundamentals at Webster playgrounds, and Grendan Williams is in charge of the Royce park program.

After several practices have been held, a league will be organized, and teams will compete throughout the season in regular scheduled play. Winners will be awarded prizes at the end of the season.

TO BROADCAST GAME
The Escanaba-Sault Ste. Marie high school football game at the Soo this afternoon, the Eskymos' 1947 opener, will be broadcast over WDBC, the Escanaba radio station. The kickoff is slated for 2 p. m. Escanaba time. WDBC will pick up the broadcast from the Soo five minutes before game time. All Escanaba high school games this fall will be broadcast over WDBC, it was announced yesterday.

Ripley's backfield consists of Jack Sibbald at quarter, Phil Pemberton and Jim Brander at the halves and Keith Eving at full. Pat Fitzgerald and Orval Dietz are handling passing and punting, respectively, and Blue Devil linemen are Dick Utech, Clayton McFarland, Jim Sutton, Jack Traynor, Steve O'Neill, Don Roe and Fred Stevens.

Stevens, a 210-pounder, has done wonders toward dispelling some of the gloom that has darkened the hopes of Soo fans. A returning letter winner, Stevens was injured last season but is ready to go again.

Other available for duty are Steve Beggs, Matt Smith, Dick Johnson, Gilbert Kangas, Bob Kenneally, Don Christensen, Jim Erickson, Dave Gardner, Jim Holt, Gilbert Prevost and Howard Dufour.

Escanaba is reported to have a slight edge over Soo in weight.

Detroit Lions Face Los Angeles Today
Indianapolis, Sept. 12 (P)—All square in two exhibition games with National football league rivals, the Detroit Lions face their last pre-season test here tomorrow against the Los Angeles Rams, meeting the westerners in a 2:30 p. m. charity scrap in Butler university's bowl.

Proceeds will be given to Indianapolis Pal clubs by the Indianapolis News, sponsor of the pro scrap. A crowd of 20,000 fans is expected.

Detroit, winner over Boston two weeks ago but loser to Washington just two days ago in Denver, will be using the game as a final test before dropping two names off its 37-man roster. The league requires that all clubs reach a 35-player limit by the opening of the season.

Undismayed by a 23-14 setback Wednesday at the hands of the Redskins, when a pair of fumbles and an intercepted pass gave Washington three touchdowns on Detroit mistakes, Coach Charles E. (Gus) Dorais of the Lions still is optimistic over his club's 1947 chances.

WHITE SOX WIN ON WILD THROW

Philadelphia, Sept. 12 (P)—Catcher Mike Guerra's wild throw hit Pinch Hitter Ralph Hodgins in the back tonight and allowed Luke Appling to score from third with a tenth inning run that broke a 4-4 tie and gave the Chicago White Sox a 5-4 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics before 11,612.

The Athletics hopped off to a 3-0 lead in the first, Chicago scored once in the fourth and Connie Mack's club got another marker in the fifth to lead at 4-1. But in the seventh the Sox shelled No-hit Bill McCahan for three runs to tie the score and he was relieved by Jesse Flores in the eighth. Earl Harris pitched the last four innings for Chicago and got credit for the win. The loss was charged to Bob Savage, third Philadelphia fliker.

Announcement of the meeting was made yesterday by Norman Slough, Rapid River, league secretary-treasurer. Other officers of the circuit are Ray Ranguette, Cooks, president, and George Kuckack, Rock, vice-president.

"It is very important that each school be represented at this meeting," Slough said, "because the basketball schedule for the coming season is to be drawn."

KINER BREAKS HOMER RECORD

Husky Buc Makes It 49 As Pirates Best Braves, 4-3

Pittsburgh, Sept. 12 (P)—Ralph Kiner, husky Pittsburgh Pirate outfielder, carried his team to a 4-3 victory over the Boston Braves tonight at Forbes field by lashing out two home runs—his 48th and 49th. In addition to taking over the major league home run record, he set a major league record of eight home runs in four consecutive games.

The old mark of seven had been in the record books since 1936 when the late Tony Lazzeri of the New York Yankees lashed out seven round-trippers in four consecutive contests.

Kiner tied that mark with his first fence-clearing knock tonight, and also passed Johnny Mize of the idled New York Giants in their race for the major-league leadership in long distance clouting.

The homer came in the fifth inning and sent the Pirates into a 3-2 lead.

Then, in the eighth, Kiner came through with his second round tripper, the blow that ultimately beat the Braves and gave Charley Barrett his 12th defeat of the season.

Kiner went on his current streak Sept. 10 when he smashed out two home runs. Yesterday he walloped four more, three in the last game of a twin bill. In each of the last three games his circuit blows have been the big factor in the Pirate wins over the Beamen.

The Braves went into the lead in the third inning when they scored two runs on three singles and a sacrifice. Carvel Rowell's single brought in the first markers and Phil Masi's single the second.

Danny Litwhiler, pinch-hitting in the ninth after one was out, hit a homer for the Braves' last tally. Frank McCormick then singled in a pinch-hitting role but Truett (Rip) Sevell ended the rally by forcing Tommy Holmes to ground into a double play.

Boston . . . 002 000 001—3 7 2 Pittsburgh . . . 001 020 01x—4 7 1 Barrett and Masi; Sevell and Kluttz.

Goodyear Named Assistant Coach At Sault Branch

Sault Ste. Marie, Sept. 11.—Johnny Goodyear, Milwaukee, widely known football star, has accepted a position as assistant coach at the Sault Branch, Michigan College of Mining and Technology. He will work with James Myers, athletic director, in the expanded program of physical training necessitated by increased enrollments at the Soo.

A native of Illinois, Goodyear has been a prominent athlete since high school days. At Marquette university, where he obtained his B. S. degree, he was an outstanding halfback. Drafted by the Washington Redskins, he played most of the 1942 season with them. He received his call to the Army Air Corps in November of that year.

While in service Goodyear was active in both football and basketball, playing on the great Randolph Field football team of 1944, and with the Air Transport Command team at Nashville. In 1945, at Nashville he served as backfield coach under head coach Eddie Davidson. The Washington Redskins earned a world championship in 1942 while he was a member. Two years later, at Randolph Field, he played on the A. T. C. team which became national service championship winner.

Before coming to the Sault campus, Goodyear was employed with International Harvester Company in Milwaukee. He is married, and has three children.

CENSUS TO BE TAKEN IN 1950

Big Difficulties Face Enumerators Of Americas

Washington—(SS)—In 1950, it will be known accurately for the first time how many people are living in the Western Hemisphere and how much food is available to feed them, if the plans made here by the Committee on the 1950 Census of the Americas are successfully carried out.

Many difficulties lie in the way. Counting the indigenous people living in the almost inaccessible regions of the Amazon valley in Brazil or the unexplored wilds of the Paraguayan and Argentine Chaco will not be easy. In many parts, there are no towns, no roads, no houses.

The census taker must go afoot, on horseback or in canoe. He must carry his questionnaire in one hand and defend himself against wild animals, snakes, or unfriendly humans with the other.

Because censuses are associated in the minds of many people with either military service or taxes, the census taker must also be able to allay suspicion enough to find and count every one of the men, women and children of the Americas. An agricultural census will be conducted at the same time as the population census.

Experts from 21 American countries, working long hours literally in shirt-sleeves around a conference table here, have come to a unanimous agreement as to the minimum of information to be gathered in this first simultaneous census of all American nations. Some countries will gather more facts, if they wish, for their own information. Some will stick pretty closely to the minimum.

It is now agreed to try to find out for every person in the Western Hemisphere, age, sex, place of birth, and whether he can read and write.

Delegates are emphatic in not wanting to include any question about race or color among the minimum approved questions.

Still under discussion are other possible inquiries such as whether the individual is married, single, widowed or divorced, citizenship, educational level and employment.

Cunningham Stores File Suit To Stop Cigaret Sales Tax

Lansing, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Cunningham Drug Co., Inc., filed suit in the state supreme court today to overthrow the state's contention that the sales tax must be imposed on top of the new cigarette tax. The case will be heard October 1.

Charles A. Wagner, counsel for the Cunningham chain, said his clients contended that the sales tax should be computed before the cigarette tax is applied, a theory which has been rejected by the state revenue department on the advice of Attorney General Eugene F. Black.

Under the drug company's contention a package of 16-cent cigarettes would sell for 19 cents with the cigarette tax. No sales tax would be applied because the initial retail cost of 16 cents falls below the point where the levy is collected from the consumer.

Under the state's theory, the cigarette tax is added first, raising the price from 16 to 19 cents and then the sales tax is applied, making the total cost to the consumer 20 cents a package.

Deputy Attorney General Peter E. Bradt said his office would cooperate to secure a quick court decision.

Tropical Hurricane Shifts At Sea, Will Miss Truman Cruise

Miami, Fla., Sept. 12 (AP)—A violent tropical hurricane with winds above 140 miles an hour near the center began to recurve toward the northwest late today and assumed a course which the weather bureau said removed all danger to the islands of the lesser Antilles and Puerto Rico.

An advisory said the hurricane was located at 5 p. m. (CDT) near latitude 19.3 north, longitude 60.7 west or about 180 miles north of Antigua, British West Indies.

Winds near the center were reported to exceed 140 miles per hour with hurricane winds (75 miles an hour or stronger) extending over an area 75 miles in diameter and gales extending from 100 to 150 miles from the center.

The advisory stated that there was no further danger to the Antilles nor to Puerto Rico and storm warnings had been ordered down in those areas. Vessels in the path of the storm, however, were advised to exercise extreme caution.

Its 20-mile forward speed will take the storm past San Juan, Puerto Rico, long before the battleship Missouri with President Truman aboard is scheduled to sail past that city.

South Dakota Has First Light Frost; Midwest Is Humid

(By The Associated Press)

Scattered showers and a cool air flow from the northwest brought relief from the heat to most of the midwest Friday, but the weather remained warm and humid from the Great Lakes area to the east coast.

The cooler air was pushing eastward and forecasters said it was expected to drive temperatures down in the eastern section by Saturday night or Sunday.

South Dakota had its first light frost of the season when the mercury dropped to 31 at Custer in the Black Hills.

Thermometers dipped to near freezing levels in parts of Colorado and Wyoming in the Rocky Mountains, but daytime peaks were near seasonal levels. Near normal weather prevailed on the west coast.

The approval stated, however, that rates to the 50 subscribers in the exchange would be on the present standard scale. The company asked rates be set on the standard sought in their petition for a state-wide increases which is now pending before the commission.

New York, Sept. 12 (AP)—Lt. Gen. John C. H. Lee, U. S. Army commander in the Mediterranean theater, will enter the service of the Episcopal church as a lay worker in religion after his return to this country for discharge, a spokesman at the national headquarters of the church said today.

The spokesman, who declined to be identified by name, said Lee had offered his services to the Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrell and that the presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States had accepted.

Lee plans to retire as commander in the Mediterranean after the formal deposit next Monday of the Allies' ratification of the peace treaty with Italy.

Lee's command has been under investigation recently by the Army's inspector general, following Scripps-Howard columnist Robert C. Ruark's publication of charges of excesses of authority among officers in dealing with enlisted men.

World-Wide Troop Census Advocated By Great Britain

Lake Success, Sept. 12 (AP)—An immediate world-wide troop census was proposed by Britain today in a surprise pre-assembly maneuver on the year-old Molotov arms reduction scheme.

This was the first time the controversial troop census question had come up since the 1946 assembly in which debate became so bitter that the issue had to be side-stepped.

Britain's new surprise package on the arms question was pushed aside temporarily today but it appeared headed toward vigorous Soviet opposition.

Britain proposed specifically that the arms commission send out a circular letter asking all the United Nations to submit information on their present total manpower under arms.

The main Soviet objection to the proposal was expected to arise from the fact that the census would be limited to manpower of the armed forces and would omit any figures on weapons. At the last assembly, Molotov was insistent that any census must include both arms and men to give a true picture of any country's military strength.

This would require the U. S. to give information on its highly secret atomic weapons.

Recluse Admits He Shot Boys Prowling Near Detroit Farm

Detroit, Sept. 12 (AP)—One of two aged farm recluses has admitted the shotgun wounding of two youths as they crept stealthily toward the men's weed-hidden home early Sunday morning, Sheriff Edward Behrendt said today.

The sheriff quoted Jesse Leng, 68, as saying he previously denied the shooting because he "didn't want my neighbors to think I'd shoot children."

Leng said he fired twice at three youths and a girl after he saw a car park near the home and noticed two cellar doors had been pulled from their hinges.

Struck by the pellets were Irving Jablonicky, 20, and Nelson Hyatt, 17, both of Wayne. They are recovering.

An extensive search for him had been in progress until Sept. 6, when the Communists sent word that they had him in "protective custody."

Frank Parker Faces Bromwich In U. S. Tennis Semifinals

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—Strictly according to the script, two Americans and a pair of sharp-shooting foreign stars came safely through today's strife and will square off in tomorrow's semi-finals of the National Tennis championships.

Leading was Jack Kramer of Los Angeles, the defending champion and acknowledged king of the amateurs. With him were Frankie Parker of Los Angeles, a two-time former champion; Jaroslav Drobny, a left handed slicker from Czechoslovakia, and Jack Bromwich, veteran Australian Davis cupper.

Tomorrow's line-up pits Kramer against Drobny in what might turn out to be a terrific match, and Parker against Bromwich in a baseline spree that could go on forever. Kramer today blasted young Bob Falkenberg of Los Angeles, 6-2, 7-5, 6-1; Drobny out-served and out-slicked Tom Brown, Jr., of San Francisco, 7-5, 6-3, 6-4; Parker out-stepped Pancho Segura of Ecuador, 6-3, 11-9, 6-4, and Bromwich levelled Gardner Mulloy of Miami, 7-5, 6-1, 6-1.

Tribe Dumps Boston Red Sox Into Third Place By 11-6 Count

Boston, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians dumped the Boston Red Sox into third place by teeing off against Denny Galehouse and Tommy Fine for 17 hits and an 11-6 victory today before a slim 4,855 crowd that included Babe Ruth.

The win moved the Indians to a game behind the third-place Sox, and Lou Boudreau has called upon Bob Feller to wipe out that margin tomorrow.

Every one of the Cleveland starters hit safely and Joe Gordon led the attack with a triple, double and a single.

Bob Lemon had an 11-0 lead going into the last of the eighth inning when Merrill Combs, third baseman called up from the Columbus American association club belted a two-run homer.

Cleveland 000 613 100—11 17 1 Boston 000 000 042—6 12 0 Lemon, Klemm and Hegan; Galehouse, Fine, Zuber and Batts, McGah.

Browns Maul Three Senator Twirlers For 9 to 3 Victory

Washington, Sept. 12 (AP)—Jack Kramer limited Washington to nine singles here tonight as the St. Louis Browns mauled three pitchers for 15 hits to capture their fifth straight victory, 9-3.

Les Moss' homer after Walt Judnich had singled in the second inning shot the Browns into a 2-0 lead off Early Wynn, who was battered for two more runs in the third and another in the fourth before he left the mound in the midst of a four-run uprising in the fifth.

Kramer yielded five hits in the ninth inning, when the Senators clustered their three runs on singles by Sherry Robertson, Stan Spence, Tom McBride, Mark Christman and Johnny Sullivan.

St. Louis 022 140 000—9 17 0 Washington 000 000 003—3 6 0 Kramer and Moss; Wynn, Cary (5), Dozier (8) and Evans.

Pennant Hopes Kept Alive As Cardinals Take Dodgers, 8-7

St. Louis, Sept. 12 (AP)—Enos Slaughter's two-mile double to the wall in left center in the ninth inning climaxed a dog-eat-dog ball game tonight with an 8-7 St. Louis decision over Brooklyn that cut the Dodgers' National league lead to 4½ games and kept alive the Red Birds' flag hopes.

Outbit by the front-running Brookies 12 hits to six, the defending champions squared the important series by storming back with two runs in the last of the ninth after the Dodgers had gone ahead on a four-run spurt in their half of the inning.

Ralph Branca, who picked up his 20th win last night, was on the hill when Slaughter slammed a line drive to the left of Leftfielder Pete Reiser who made a futile jumping stab at the ball as it sailed out of reach.

Hank Behrman, the fifth Brook pitcher, had opened the inning by walking Erv Dusak and Nippy Jones had bunted him along to second base. Stan Musial, responsible for three runs with a seventh-inning triple, had a life when Eddie Stanky fumbled his slow hopper, trying to hurry the play. That was all for Behrman and Manager Burt Shotton called in Branca to pitch to Slaughter. Brooklyn 000 000 214—7 12 1 St. Louis 000 020 312—8 6 1 Gregg, Casey (7), Bankhead (7), Haugstad (8), Behrman (9), Branca (9) and Edwards; Munger, Pollet (8), Brazle (9), Wilks (9) and Rice, Garagiola (7).

Michigan State To Scrimmage Today

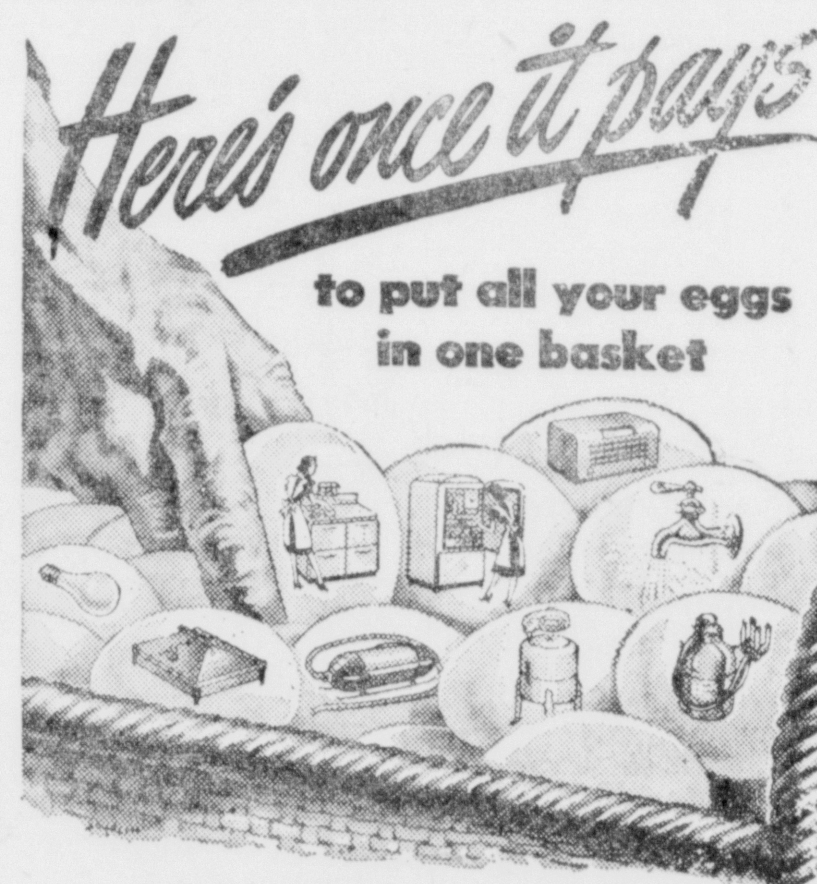

East Lansing, Sept. 12 (AP)—Coach Biggie Munn will take his first look at his Michigan State college football team under game conditions Saturday at a scrimmage in Macklin Field stadium.

Munn ordered the 60-minute intra-squad game with kick-off, point after touchdown, and the other trimmings after being convinced that his team's offensive weapons are sufficiently sharpened.

The squad has held daily "quick whistle" scrimmages for the past week.

Munn said he would spend next week polishing up State's defense in preparation for the opening game with Michigan Sept. 27.

"We may have to defend our goal line a bit that day," Munn cracked.

GO ALL-ELECTRIC!

THE COMPLETE USE of electricity is rapidly changing our way of life—and for the better!

Completely electrified homes and farms, using low-cost, easy-to-operate, time-and-labor saving electrical conveniences, mean better living and easier working.

Rely on electricity exclusively to do ALL the jobs—not merely for lighting but for the big time-and-energy consuming jobs like Refrigeration, Cooking and Water Heating—and thus gain the lowest price through widest use of the best method.

It's wise to use electricity for any job... wiser to use it for more jobs... and wisest to use it exclusively for ALL the jobs. GO ALL-ELECTRIC, The Modern Way.

THE MORE YOU USE—THE LOWER THE PRICE
